

Bence Vági

With a background in modern and classical dance, Bence Vági is a director-choreographer whose innovative approach to performing arts redefines the magic of theatre and circus in an original way for a contemporary audience. After completing his university studies in directing and choreography, he founded Recirquel in 2012. As the Artistic Director of Recirquel, he continuously seeks new creative horizons, never resting on past achievements, and has become one of the most acclaimed figures in Hungarian performing arts on the global stage.
